ONLINE LEARNING

You may be interested in taking an online class but aren't sure if the format would compliment your learning needs and expectations. There are many things to consider when deciding to take any course, and there are special considerations when deciding to learn online.

- 100% Online Learning courses require no need to meet on-campus, and hybrid courses require fewer on-campus meetings than traditional courses.
- NCC uses the Learning Management System Blackboard for 24/7 access to the learning environment.
- Online learning is a convenient way to meet your educational goals and also a learning style. Online courses are perfect for self-disciplined, organized, and self-motivated students who want to learn collaboratively among other learners.
- Computer technical skills and resourcefulness are important skills for online learners.

Machine Tool Technology

New Hampshire's manufacturing sector is not only robust, it's cutting edge and demand is high for workers skilled in high-tech computer-aided manufacturing.

Nashua Community College is committed to training job seekers and retraining the existing workforce to satisfy the need.

"This program is not about tinkering — it's about transformation. This is not about getting more students to enroll — it's about getting more students to graduation day and into good jobs," said U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan.

NCC has renovated its traditional machine tool programs and facilities. By providing certificates for machine tool processes and an AS in Machining, Nashua Community College will assist advanced students in finding high-paying jobs.

Expanded curricula will include production manufacturing, computer-aided manufacturing, CNC operations and a new degree in Applied Manufacturing may also be developed.

" This program is not about tinkering — it's about transformation. This is not about getting more students to enroll — it's about getting more students to graduation day and into good jobs. "

NCC is your path to advanced manufacturing success. To get on your way, stop by the campus at 505 Amherst St., Nashua, NH for a tour or contact Jonathan Mason at: (603) 578-8900 Ext. 1763 | Cell: (603) 717-1490 Email: jmason@ccsnh.edu
